

GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS FROM COOPERATION OF MEMBERS

Gratifying Accomplishments of Year Are Shown at Annual Meeting Chamber of Commerce, 1912 Discussed

A year of unparalleled achievements in the history of Colorado Springs, and one of the most hearty cooperation among the members of the body since such an organization came into existence in this city, was unfolded to the members of the Chamber of Commerce last night at the annual meeting. Prominent in the meeting was the record of some advance made in every department of the association, something done that brought results and a note of optimism for future accomplishments.

The new directors, elected recently, were installed by President E. W. Giddings. They are Henry C. Hall, Frank Clifton, Clarence Underhill, J. J. Eubank, and P. C. Matthews. The old directors, whose terms expired last night, were given a hearty vote of thanks for their services in the interests of the chamber. Those retired are H. H. Seligman, D. F. Carpenter, W. F. Strickley, E. S. Parsons, L. A. Puffer, C. C. Gile and Dr. T. O. Hamilton.

New Members Control Board.

The new members of the board of control, who were installed, are M. C. Gile, F. T. Metzler, Dr. A. A. Blackman, G. C. Hemenway, W. K. Argo, W. J. Cundey, A. J. Lawton, E. B. Summers, William L. Howbert, W. R. Waterton, J. F. Burns, A. H. Hunt, C. F. Dodge, F. G. Peck, P. B. Stewart, S. H. Kinsley, P. L. Rouse, W. W. Flora, H. E. Brooks and Charles Deacon.

A striking feature of the meeting was the report of Secretary Henderson that 207 members took part in the work of the Chamber during the last year, showing the spirit of cooperation that has made the Chamber of Commerce the powerful agency it is.

A motion was passed asking the trustees of the Myron Stratton Home to give the contract for the construction work on the home to Colorado Springs man or firm if in line with their judgment.

Two hundred and fifty members were present, and following the business session punch and cigars were served.

Advertising.

The advertising campaign this year was suggested in the report of the committee on advertising, of which Charles T. Wilder is chairman. A plan was adopted to attract a share of the tourist travel that will be going to San Francisco in 1913 also was urged. Special features of the work of the committee during the year were the new literature, consisting of the advertising book and road map; the birds-eye map of the region, 100,000 postcards, publicly bureau, which consisted of post matter concerning the district of visitors sent to various newspapers; and the publication of "Daily Delings," the weekly guide book, which netted the advertising fund of the Chamber $35.25.

The travel lectures given by Carl Holcomb in his tour of Texas and Oklahoma received special mention. He visited 17 cities and gave 78 lectures to 14,350 people. Special attention is to be given to the moving picture method of advertising, and films made last year have been secured for future advertising.

Speaking of railroad cooperation in the matter of publicity, the report stated:

It has been the policy of the committee to cooperate in every way possible with the railroads in advertising this region. Following the visit to the Pike's Peak region a year ago the advertising representatives of the Western lines, the region has been featured as never before in railroad booklets and newspaper advertisements. In fact, the railroads this year issued handsome booklets devoted to Colorado, these having before given but slight attention to this section as a tourist center.

New and striking photographs have been secured, and these have been supplied to railroads and others who have used them to great advantage in giving publicity to the Pike's Peak region. The value of the increased advertising which the railroads have given to the Pike's Peak region this year has been worth thousands of dollars. This

AMERICANS ARE TO BE PROTECTED

GUNBOAT WHEELING ON WAY TO VERA CRUZ

Terrible Conditions Prevail in Southern Provinces of Mexico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Alarmed for the safety of Americans, whose lives are in jeopardy because of widespread lawlessness of Mexican rebels in Vera Cruz state, and throughout southern Mexico, the state department again has called upon the navy to protect American interests in the republic.

The gunboat Wheeling is steaming tonight from Tampa, Fla., for Vera Cruz, where Americans are said to face a grave crisis. The relief by the cruiser Des Moines at the time of the Diaz uprising, last October.

The request from the state department to the navy came after the receipt of a long series of official reports from Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson and consuls in southern Mexican cities, all reflecting a condition of anarchy, especially in the state of Vera Cruz, where federal authorities face the problem of restoring civil order with a disorganized and divided army.

Guerrilla warfare, brigandage, sacking of ranches and villages and other desperate crimes place Americans and other foreign residents in a state of constant danger, and the latest advice to the state department expresses fear of a worse outbreak.

When the Wheeling arrives in Vera Cruz, it will be met by the American consul, who will be accompanied by a detachment of marines.

PANICS MAY COME AT ANY TIME--GLASS

Would Be Folly, He Declares, to Delay Action Until They Arrive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—That it is not unreasonable but wholly in accordance with past experience to expect a financial panic similar to the one in 1907 at some time in the future, was the declaration of Representative Carter Glass of Virginia, chairman of the subcommittee of the house committee on banking and currency, in an address tonight at the convention of the National Chambers of Commerce. No one could tell, Mr. Glass said, when such a financial disaster would come, "but," he declared, "there are symptoms that should not go unobserved."

At the outset of his talk, Mr. Glass called particular attention to the statement made recently before his committee by a banker of the west, that not even in the panic of 1907 did he experience greater difficulty in meeting the demands upon him than last autumn, when he was obliged to turn his reserves run down to accommodate his customers.

It is folly to delay, Mr. Glass said, to wait until the panic comes. "I would not commit myself to any definite prediction as to a recurrence of the trouble of 1907," said Mr. Glass, "but I do say that it would be the height of folly for us to defer action until it is too late."

Friends of Bride Remember Many Kindly Acts With Suitable Gifts

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Miss Helen Gould and Finley J. Shepard of St. Louis, Mo., motored tonight from Lyndhurst, the Gould country home, to Tarrytown, to obtain their license to wed tomorrow. "The night journey to Tarrytown was planned after the couple had waited in vain all day for presents of license to leave the vicinity of the town clerk's office in Tarrytown. Curious persons, anxious to get a glimpse of the two, remained until after the marriage license bureau closed, and went home disappointed."

Word of the wedding crowds was conveyed to Miss Gould and Mr. Shepard, and they arranged with Robert Dashwood, the clerk, that he should take the necessary license papers to his home in Irvington. Miss Gould and Mr. Shepard, accompanied by the Rev. Daniel Russell, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian church, who will perform the ceremony tomorrow, Mrs. Russell, and Louis J. Shepard, brother of Finley J. Shepard, arrived at Mr. Dashwood's home at 9 o'clock tonight. The bride couple answered the customary questions, received their license and drove away in an automobile.

Detectives Guard Presents.

Miss Helen Gould spent much of her time this afternoon superintending the completion of the decorations for the ceremony. This afternoon, with her fiancé and his brother, she returned to Dr. Russell's home, where they dined. Then came the trip to the town clerk's home for the marriage license.

There were no guests tonight at Lyndhurst, where nearly a dozen private detectives are guarding the costly wedding presents. Among the gifts received today was a massive bar of 200 diamonds from Mrs. Russell Sage. At the wedding rehearsal the little Gould girls took the parts they are to assume at tomorrow's ceremony. Dorothy will hold the bride's bouquet as the ring is placed on her finger and Helen will hold the bride's train.

Finley J. Shepard and his brother, Louis, were guests tonight at Dr. Russell's home.

Rehearse Wedding Ceremony.

Today they rehearsed their wedding in the great drawing room at Lyndhurst, Miss Gould's country home. The Rev. Dr. Russell prompted them in their replies and instructed the attendants in the roles which they will play. These included Louis J. Shepard, brother of the bridegroom, to be

ROOSEVELT TAKES INTEREST IN STRIKE

Hears Sordid Story of Slavery in Sweatshops—Promises to Lend Aid

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt interested himself in the garment workers' strike tonight. In company with Miss Madeline Doherty and Miss Gertrude Barham, the latter an organizer of the International Ladies Garment Workers' union, he visited several halls in the east side where white goods and women workers who are on strike. After his visit he said that he would confer with Senator Chauncey S. D. Cowan, a Democrat, who is chairman of the senate committee on ways and means. Members of the committee emphasized the minority sentiment in favor of free trade and a strong trend toward free trade, in accord with the general policy of Democrats last year to transfer the necessities of life, including sugar and lumber, to the free list.

Protest against putting cattle and meats upon the free list was voiced by S. M. Cowan of Fort Worth, Tex., as spokesman for the cattle industry west of the Mississippi river. Mr. Cowan pictured a crisis of the industry in Texas by South American imports.

Asked to sign a petition to the senate committee for free meats, Mr. Cowan said: "I will sign it."

"Did all the Texas Democrats in the house vote for free meats last session?" asked Representative James of Kentucky.

"Yes," said Mr. Cowan.

"And all of them were reelected?"

"Yes."

"Then you are going counter to the vote of a state?"

"No," replied Mr. Cowan. "The Democrats in Texas always vote the Democratic ticket regardless of such matters."

Stratton Contracts Not Let Until the Last of This Week

That the contracts for the construction of the first 12 buildings of the Myron Stratton home will not be let until the last of the week at the earliest, was the statement of Secretary Lloyd of the board of trustees, which met yesterday to consider the bids for the work. Sixty-five bids were received, 20 general and the remainder for special parts of the work. The trustees, Dr. P. H. Rice and William Lennox of this city and T. S. Dimes of Denver, assisted by Architect Maurice Blisco, started work on the tabulation and inspection of the bids yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Owing to the large number of bids and the complexity of the work, it will be several days before the lowest bid is known. The trustees refuse to give out the amounts of any bids.

SEN. ROOT DENOUNCES U. S. FOR CANAL CONTROVERSY

Urges Adoption of Amendment That Will Give Equal Concessions to All Nations for the Use of Panama Canal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—"Shall we inform the world that the United States is false to its agreements, false to its 'pledged word'?" Said Senator Root, "and we have it made known the world over that the United States is false to its agreements, false to its advantage of you? That the United States is a dishonest, unscrupulous power?"

Senator Root's denunciation of the United States policy in the Panama canal controversy was one of the most powerful and eloquent in the history of the chamber. He denounced the policy of the United States in the Panama canal controversy as one of the most dishonest and unscrupulous in the history of the world. He urged the adoption of an amendment that would give equal concessions to all nations for the use of the Panama canal.

Tourist Travel.

The tourist travel to the Pikes Peak region means an annual revenue estimated at $1,500,000, which is an average of $50 to every man, woman and rates from Denver and Pueblo during the tourist season are emphatically proposed, as a method of securing more tourists here on Sunday.

Climate and Health.

Dr. P. O. Hanford, chairman of the committee of public health, made a number of suggestions in the annual report of his committee. Chief among these is an additional appropriation of $5,000 by the department of public health in the city council for the employment of inspectors for tuberculosis, and for education in this matter. That the city council take every effort to protect the water system from contamination is another suggestion of the committee.

The most satisfactory methods of solution of problems connected with health conditions in the suburbs could be based on "satellite" towns, as the annexation of the mountains, is a statement of the report.

The present overlapping in the various charitable organizations, and the formation of a central board to handle this matter is another suggestion. The Associated Charities is suggested as this central body.

The committee recommended that the health officer of the city be paid an annual salary to enable him to give all his time to the work, and that nobody not fully qualified should be employed.

Special emphasis to advertising Colorado Springs as a health resort, with emphasis on the fall and winter climate, was made. The committee also recommended the establishment by El Paso county of a larger health department with a regular corps of sanitary inspectors and with facilities for proper patrolling and inspection of outlying districts.

Streets and Highways.

The system of ornamental lighting installed on the main streets of the city, the paving work, completion of the Canon City-Colorado Springs road by convict labor, and reconstruction of the old stage road from this city to Cripple Creek by the government, county and state, feature the report of Leonard E. Curtis, chairman of the committee on streets and highways. Mr. Curtis states that in his belief the street lighting system will be extended during the year.

An attractive entrance on the east by way of the Lincoln highway is to be built this year by the county commissioners, and the extension of Platte avenue to the east will make the eastern portal more attractive, as is the report. Substantial progress in the matter of county roads, new bridges, etc., is reported as the result of cooperation with the county commissioners. The threatened squabble over the route across the state for the cross-country highway received comment, showing that the local association took no part in the sectional fight. Advertising received as a result of visits of cross-country automobilists was of great value to this section in boosting it as a desirable touring center, Mr. Curtis says.

Membership Report.

The membership of the body is now 732, and the committee, of which E. W. Kent is chairman, reported that 49 members were added during the year. Eight deaths among the members, 150 applications for admission, and 49 local resignations due to various causes, were reported. The committee found the card index system of Mink names satisfactory.

The committee on legislation, headed by Dunbar F. Carpenter, made an extensive report concerning the various matters that were brought up affecting the general welfare of the people. The Home Rule bill was the most important measure taken up during the year. Bills of national concern, including one for the appropriation of $100,000 for the study of Colorado mineral springs, one to make the Pike national forest a game reserve, and one to have a federal weather bureau located here were urged without success. In-state legislation the various amendments brought up at the last election were passed upon, an antislip law requested, a law enabling county commissioners to employ agricultural experts and a law asking for an appropriation for the Panama-Pacific exposition were favored. A bill has been submitted asking for the reappropriation of $100,000 for the Dry Farming congress, given here in 1911, which money was never paid owing to the condition of the state treasury.

Conventions.

Nineteen conventions were held in Colorado Springs in 1912, and already eight have been secured for this year. The convention committee, headed by L. A. Puffer, reported that these conventions brought a total of 4,335 visitors, whose total expenditures were approximately $74,140. Among the most important of these were the state Republican and Democratic meetings, the Knights of Columbus supreme council, and the visit of the American Association of Passenger Agents.

For 1913, the following conventions are scheduled for Colorado Springs: Lincoln Highway Association of Colorado.

State Council J. O. U. A. M.

American Association of General Baggage Agents.

National Press Association of America.

American Public Health Association.

Pacific Jurisdiction, Woodmen of the World.

National Conference of Governors of the Union.

Rocky Mountain Master Plumbers Association.

The adoption of definite policies in convention-getting, as well as the extension of the convention bureau, were suggested in the report. Especially the matter of going after meetings two or three years before they are scheduled, was emphasized, and a spirit of hospitality on the part of the people was urged. Instead of trying to concentrate the conventions during the tourist season, Mr. Puffer suggests that meetings be more generally scattered throughout the year, especially in the spring and autumn months in order to lengthen the tourist season.

The matter of giving bonuses for conventions is not encouraged in the report, except in instances of some great need and benefit to the city.

That the meetings already scheduled for 1913 will be important in making Colorado Springs one of the most popular convention centers from a number of standpoints, was brought out forcibly in the report.

caused by W. H. Spurgeon in his report for the committee on municipal affairs. The ornamental lighting system, the action in connection with the proposed closing of Cheyenne avenue, the report of Charles Mulford Robinson, and the water system proposition were the principal subjects taken up.

Speaking of the head of the water system, the report reads:

"An election is approaching and a new head to your city water system will be elected. The members of the Chamber of Commerce owe it to themselves to see to it that a man capable of conducting one of the largest corporations in El Paso county (the water system is worth in excess of $2,000,000) should be elected. We must have a capable man for this office."

Trades and Industries.

Some interesting figures were provided in his report by O. E. Hemenway, chairman of the committee on trades and industries. Five new industries were secured during the last year making more than 120 industrial establishments, with a capitalization of $11,500,000, employing about 3,200 persons and with a payroll of not less than $2,000,000.

Mr. Hemenway reported on the matter of a probable central delivery system for the merchants, stating that in his belief the proposition will be adopted soon.

The merchants division of the chamber promises to be one of the live divisions this year, said Mr. Hemenway, in closing.

Agriculture.

Chairman John Lennox of the agriculture committee reported that approximately 100,000 bushels of corn had been raised by the farmers aided by the seed fund, of which he had charge. The value of all crops raised was $100,000. A detailed report of the work of the seed fund committee was given.

Mr. Lennox made a number of suggestions, among them being: more capital that the farmers can use to purchase stock, better facilities for getting their products to market, and education. There are now 63,852 acres of dry farming and grazing land in El Paso county, according to the report.

Education.

Professor William Strieby of the committee on education specially laid stress upon efforts to educate the school children in matters of state history, industries, resources, etc.

Entertainment.

The committee on house and entertainment, of which W. R. Armstrong is chairman, reported on preparation for meetings, entertainments, etc., and especially the equipment of the present quarters of the chamber. He also reported on several exhibits placed in the rooms.

Carnival Report.

The report of F. C. Matthews, chairman of the carnival committee, showed that a balance of $1,123.88 remained after the bills were paid for the 1912 Shan Kive. The committee suggested that the affair be made permanent as a Colorado Springs attraction. The detailed financial report is as follows:

Secretary's Report.

To the Directors and Members of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce:

Your secretary herewith submits the following report for the year 1912.

Review of the standing committees, presented this evening, show you the scope of the work of the Chamber of Commerce and demonstrate its efficiency as an organization having in view the advancement of the general interests of the entire community.

In this report I want to present some figures which will give you some idea of the work of the secretary's office, and will show the general lines upon which it is working and the policies it has established.

There is not much of the routine work of the committee organization that ordinarily finds its way into the newspapers, but it is this every-day work, just as it is the case in the office of every business or professional man, that tells the most convincing story.

Number of letters written—4,204

Number of inquiries answered by personal letter—1,040

Number of circulars sent—1,000

Number of membership notices—5,000

Number of publicity bureau news letters—10,000

Total number of committee board and general meetings—205

Number of out-of-town visitors to Chamber of Commerce rooms 2,500 (Exclusive of post card days.)

Total number of pieces of printed matter distributed by mail, express, to personal callers and through various agencies—256,336

Number of different publications used in various publicity campaigns—185

Members Active.

With a present membership of 750, it is a significant fact that 307 individual members have performed service for the chamber during the last year. This is nearly 60 percent, and shows not only that the members are taking a general interest, but that a very large percentage of the members have an actual voice in the control of the association and are doing their part to make it a success.

The loyal and efficient volunteer service of so many men has been responsible for the accomplishments of the year.

The reports of the various standing and special committees will show you that the Chamber of Commerce is not merely a tourist bureau—important as that feature of the work is, but that its activities cover every phase of development work, and that it is busy every day in the year working out some problem that affects the life, development and welfare of this community.

In his report a year ago, the secretary made this statement:

"The organization which is based upon the broadest foundation is that of the Chamber of Commerce, and it is the duty of those who belong to it and support the Chamber of Commerce, not because of their desire for direct personal gain, or with the expectation that the chamber will return dollar for dollar, but who give of their money, their time, their energy and their thought because they want to give something to the organization because they want to do something to help the town."

Shows Direct Gain.

This is true, and, at the same time, it is interesting to point out a few of the ways in which the Chamber of Commerce has actually returned to its members and to the community at large a direct financial gain. Take, for instance, the report of the advertising committee, which shows that $17,000 has actually been saved to the members of the Chamber of Commerce these last two years through the elimination of wasteful advertising schemes. Or that of the convention committee, which tells of the $17,000 that convention delegates spent in Colorado Springs in 1912. Or that of the seed fund, which includes reports showing that crops raised from the loan of $5,000 amounted in value to more than $100,000, the large percentage of which has been spent in Colorado Springs. Or the direct returns in dollars and cents which have come through the advertising for tourists and the giving of proper information to

30 Feet of Bowels Without Gripe or Nausea

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, sour stomach and full of gas, teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs you will never realize you have taken anything until morning. When all the poisonous matter, even bile and clogged-up waste will be moved on and out of your system, thoroughly but gently—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. Taking Syrup of Figs is a real pleasure. Don't think you are dragging yourself. It is composed entirely of juicy figs, senna and warm water, and constant use cannot cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.

They after their arrival—which perhaps would amount to from $5,000 to $10,000 that otherwise would not have been expended in the region.

These reports show you of the policies which have been laid down by the Chamber of Commerce, and have followed the plans to place Colorado Springs in friendly relations not only with various parts of the state of Colorado, but with the various parts of the southwest, from which it has drawn its tourist trade, of the cooperation of the civic improvements and the good roads; of the agricultural development; of its activity in building the city from within, in order that it may attract more from the outside.

Will Remember Poor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—While being showered with gifts herself and busy with preparations for her wedding, Miss Helen Gould has made the army of homeless men in New York happy with the announcement that they will receive a treat tomorrow at her expense. Tomorrow is the day of her marriage to Finley J. Shepard of St. Louis, at Lynhurst, her country home, near Tarrytown.

The feast for the poor will be served by relay to 1,000 men in the basement of the Bowers mission, in whose work Miss Gould has long been interested. A musical entertainment will also be provided.

Miss Gould decided upon this plan while house-sitters were besieging her house bearing wedding gifts by the hundreds. Some of the packages, it is assumed, came from the Bowers where she has made many friends by her philanthropic work. One presents was a soup dish, sent by 25 girls of the bride's sewing school.

Soldiers Remember Kindness.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 21.—As a reminder of the generosity of Miss Helen Gould in distributing thousands of coats for the use of sick and wounded American soldiers in the Cuban campaign, the private soldiers of Fort Leavenworth will present to her as a wedding gift a miniature production of a "Helen Gould coat," wrought in solid gold. This announcement was made today by the committee having the matter in charge.

The miniature coat is to be 10 inches long and four inches wide.

Man Causes Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Suspicion aroused by the flash of a big diamond on the finger of a poorly dressed young man, resulted today in the arrest of James Conley and Harry Payne, who confessed that they had been William McDowell, an elderly retired rancher from Walla Walla, Wash., almost to death last night, and then robbed him of $4,000 worth of jewelry. McDowell was unconscious when detectives entered his room and was still in a precarious condition tonight.

In their statement to the police, Conley and Payne said that they first engaged a room near that of McDowell in a downtown hotel. Then they called on him to borrow some matches and told him with a lead pipe.

Payne put on a stolen ring which caught the eye of a detective and led to the arrest of the pair as they were about to leave the city.

Valuable Gifts Presented.

Among the gifts were a handsome rope of pearls from George J. Gould, a corsage ornament of diamonds from Frank Gould, a set of tapestries from Edwin Gould.

Howard Gould, it is said, has given his sister a rare art treasure which he purchased recently in Paris.

The wedding guests have been restricted to members of both families and a few friends. Not more than 75 persons will witness the ceremony. Most of these will come from New

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—When ad-trial of Charles S. Dawson, the de-

COMMISSION BEGINS PROBE OF PHONE CO'S.

Nationwide Investigation Is Begun — May Require
Over One Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Preliminary work began today in the probe of commercial telephone companies by a federal commission. The commission, created by a law passed last year, is headed by Attorney General Clegg. It is the first of its kind.
The American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Bell system company are the first to be investigated. The commission will be in session for the next two weeks,
then it will be in session for the next two months. It is likely that the investigation will be completed in the next two years.

The investigation will be the most extensive ever undertaken by the commission. It is likely that the investigation will be completed in the next two years. It is likely that the investigation will be completed in the next two years.

Question Jurisdiction.
It is expected that the jurisdiction of the commission will be limited to the telephone companies. It is likely that the commission will be in session for the next two weeks,
then it will be in session for the next two months.

The present law apparently does not require either telephone or telegraph companies to file with the commission schedules of their rates, although they are designated as "common carriers."

In the opinion of those who have studied the telephone situation, the most important question involved in the inquiry will be the "broad national policy" as to whether it is advisable to have a competition in telephone service.

Another question of particular interest to the companies themselves, and it will have to be considered by the commission in the course of its investigation, is whether it is advisable from the public viewpoint to have telephone and telegraph lines linked.

It is probable that the work of investigation will occupy a year or more.

the canal was based directly on the principle of neutrality.

"We are not at liberty," said the senator, "to put any construction on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty that violates that controlling principle of absolute equality embodied in the other treaties." He quoted the assurance given Great Britain that the United States did not seek any special favors for its ships in the Panama canal, and cited treaties with other nations in which the same position was taken.

Has No Special Control.

Senator Root contended the United States could claim no special control over the canal because it owned the canal zone. This suggestion had been made, he said, by those who claimed the United States was entitled to build a canal on its own property and do with it as it liked without regard to previous treaties.

"Nothing can be farther from the fact," declared Senator Root.

"It is not our territory except in trust. Treaty or no treaty, we have long associated, beginning under Secretary Cass, that the nations of Central America had no right to debar the world from its right to pass across the isthmus. Upon that we base the treaties, as stated in President Roosevelt's message of our entire action on the isthmus, which resulted in our having the canal zone. We could not have taken it for our selfish interest, for the purpose of securing advantages for the United States over other nations. We secured that zone only because civilization had a right to the passage, and we made ourselves the medium of civilization to secure those rights. From our being relieved from the obligation of the treaties with Great Britain by the ownership of the zone, we had taken that property on trust. We cannot be false to our obligations without being false

Arrangements Being Made for Large Convention—Splendid Program Assured

PUEBLO, Jan. 21.—The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Colorado will be held in this city February 6 to 9.
The general theme of the convention will be "Challenge to the Young Men's Christian Association." No plans are being made to make the program local to any particular city in the state.

One of the strongest speakers is Charles R. Townson, who has done splendid work as senior secretary of the industrial department of the international committee, coming in contact with the leaders both of the employers and the employees of the largest shops and factories in the country. He is an authority on all matters pertaining to industrial work and industrial life.
As a speaker he is inspiring, inspiring and magnetic.

Charles D. Horton, the head of the student department of the international committee, is another speaker of very rare ability. His addresses to students and his work among them have won the hearts of thousands of students throughout the country.

For a number of years Fred S. Goodman has been the Bible study expert of the international committee, and it is doubtful if there is any man in the country better adapted for presenting the work which he will present at the state convention.

George D. Medill, general field secretary of Chicago, is well known in Colorado and the fact that he will be on the convention program will mean that a number of men will come to hear him.

The committee has been particularly fortunate in securing the services of A. A. Hyde of Wichita, Kan., the well-known manufacturer of Menhaden, a man of great business sagacity and a wonderful philanthropist.

Brotherhood of Kansas and Nebraska will each bring a strong message to the men of Colorado, as will also Frank Brockman, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., South Korea.

The Colorado men who have been chosen to speak at the convention are also speakers of ability and force. It is doubtful if any convention program in the country presents a better array of speakers.

Entertainment will be furnished free to students and members of boys departments. Others may secure reduced rates at hotels and in private homes. Part of one and a third will be in effect on all railroads, on the certificate plan. The music will be an attractive feature of the program.

The convention is open to all and any person interested will be welcome to the sessions. Pastors, Sunday school superintendents, church workers and laymen in general in unorganized

PROGRESSIVES HOLD
MEETING IN DENVER

DENVER, Jan. 21.—The state central committee of the Progressive party held a meeting here today. A resolution was adopted, providing that public office holders shall not hold office within the party. This resolution which contains a referendum clause which may result in its being submitted to the voters of the party will, it is finally adopted, be used by Stoker as state chairman. Mr. Stoker is treasurer of the city and county of Denver. He said this afternoon that he did not think the resolution was aimed at him personally but that it was in accordance with the rule in force in the national Progressive organization. He said that he had forsaken this "beam" expecting to resign the chairmanship.

believe ALL that Professor Thomas stated, and he stated that "The conduct was not dishonest; that he had been wrong at lots of other places. No woman with whom I during conducted myself improperly in my presence.
But the style of the dance was improper. It was too close and sensuous.
I heard no improper conversation."

He did see drinking, but not on the dinner floor. And Mr. Thomas went to the hall to investigate conditions, as did Miss Adams. Compare his testimony with Miss Adams' original charges.

I will say that I called but two advances of my own volition. The Rev.
Mr. Moore and Dr. Osborn—I paid no money, nor did I offer money, for "time" at the investigation, although
F. W. Long was paid $5 for his time.
This has been admitted by Mr. Dunbar E. Carpenter, counsel.

Mr. Long came to me with a proposal. I told him to "T.H.D. THE

I do not dispute the statement that the lights might have been turned out completely out during the moonlight dance.
Have they been turned out at other dances, except a small transparency at one end of the hall?

Was Duty to Attend.

I was present at the investigation only to protect my reputation, and I believe it was my duty to be there, and I defy anyone to show where I suggested a question which defamed Robbins hall. I did suggest questions to show that the same conditions obtained at all public dances, and that the persons attending Robbins hall dances attended all other public dances.

They also attend all band concerts in the summer time—Robbins hall was closed during this time.

I want to call particular attention to the fact that these dances have been held for a period of seven years, and no complaint or suggestion of this conduct or impropriety has ever been made.

WHY SHIELD BARELA?

ASSASSINS do not as a usual custom ply their trade in the bright light of day. They prefer the dark. Being essentially cowards, they dislike publicity. Also they prefer to take their victim unaware; to give him as little chance as possible to defend himself.

Politicians are not unlike assassins in many ways. Just as few men would be assassins if they were constantly in the sunlight, with the eye of the people on them, so few public men would become political assassins if the people knew at all times what their supposed representatives were doing.

But unfortunately there are dark de-filés in legislative procedure. There are ways in which the politician can hide himself when he has on hand a particularly nasty job. Otherwise few of the corporation-serving politicians could last more than one term.

First in importance, perhaps, of all these methods of escaping the public eye is the legislative committee. For many years it has been a common practice to refer any matters which meet with the disapproval of the bosses to a properly-constituted committee. And there, away from the inquisitive eye of the public, the doomed legislation is secretly done to death.

The present Colorado legislature, hailed as the most progressive in years, has not yet emancipated itself from the old reactionary procedure. Especially is this true of the senate. The chairmen of most of the important committees are reactionaries. And they are following the old course of endeavoring to stifle legislation which is disliked by the bosses.

One of the most important matters to come before the present legislature is the determination of the Wyckoff-Barela contest. Barela has for years been known as "the perpetual senator." He has kept his seat for almost a quarter of a century by notorious methods. He is the agent through whom the great corporations retain their grip on Las Animas county.

Dr. Wyckoff was his opponent in the recent election. The doctor is contesting Barela's seat. He has sworn affidavits showing that more than enough illegal votes were cast for Barela to cost him his seat. But more than that, he has originals of letters written by Barela, holding out promises and threats to individual voters.

Never was there a clearer prima facie case than that which Dr. Wyckoff wishes to present. It would seem that the senate would be only too anxious to hear the case. The senate is Democratic, Barela is a Republican. Political methods in Las Animas county have for years been notorious; every Democratic platform has declaimed against them. Dr. Wyckoff, furthermore, is a Democrat, with Progressive indorsement. He was supported by the anti-corporation, antimachine element of all parties in Las Animas county.

Then why doesn't the senate proceed at once to hear and determine the Barela contest?

Because the chairman of the committee on privileges and elections won't report the case to the senate.

This chairman is Joseph S. Berry, a Denver machine Democrat. The machine Democrats and the machine Republicans work together to serve the corporations and the bosses. And the corporations and the bosses, under deep obligation to Barela, have promised to retain him in his seat.

Of course, Berry isn't the whole committee on privileges and elections. He's only one out of seven, in fact. But the politicians have invented what they call senatorial courtesy. And it's one of the rules of senatorial courtesy that one member must not intrude on another member's preserves. In other words, senatorial courtesy must be preserved, whatever ill may happen to the state.

Senatorial courtesy ought to be smashed. Senatorial courtesy, in this case, works to suppress an investigation into notorious political conditions in Las Animas county. And senatorial courtesy is all the more to be condemned in this case, because the majority of the members of Senator Berry's committee are progressives of one party or another. One of them, W. C. Robinson of El Paso, was elected by Progressive indorsement, and neither senatorial courtesy—nor any form of courtesy towards those who obstruct the public will—is included in the Progressive platform.

Dr. Wyckoff has been trying, since January 15, to get a report from the committee. Senator Berry has refused to call a meeting. On the contrary, he has assumed, of his own motion, to give Barela opportunity to make a further reply to the one already made by him, with the sole object, of course, of giving Barela time in which to enter into combinations by which he may retain his seat.

There is absolutely not the slightest excuse why that contest should not be heard. There is every reason why it should be. The majority of the committee have no right to permit their chairman to defeat the object for which the committee, ostensibly, at least, was formed. They could, if they would, force him to act. And this is just what they should do at once. The people will gladly forgive them for any breach they may make in the requirements of senatorial courtesy.

The Gazette prints the names of the committee members. Every citizen who knows any of these committeemen should write them, demanding action in this contest. If the facts are as Dr. Wyckoff alleges, Colorado cannot too soon clear her reputation of the sort of politics practiced by Barela and his henchmen.

COMMITTEE ON PRIVILEGES AND ELECTIONS.

Joseph S. Berry of Denver, Democrat.
W. C. Robinson of El Paso, Republican.
Thomas H. Hes of Moffat, Democrat.
Edward Affolter of Boulder, Democrat.
Helen Ring Robinson of Denver, Democrat.
Austin Blakey of Lake, Democrat.
A. N. Parrish of Proterra, Republican.

It is worthy of note that the Progressive state committee, at its meeting in Denver Monday, adopted resolutions demanding a hearing of this contest. If the state committees of the other two parties would but do likewise there would soon be a report from Senator Berry's committee.

A PRAYER

IN his sermon Sunday night on "The Streets of the City," Rev. James H. Spencer quoted this prayer, written by Mornay Williams, which is particularly appropriate just at this time, when, because of angry charges and countercharges, we are so likely to lose sight of the fact that what we should all desire, and what we should all strive to secure, is the moral and spiritual welfare of the children of the streets:

O Heavenly Father, whose unveiled face the angels of little children do always behold, look with love and pity, we beseech thee, upon the children of the streets. Where men, in their busy and careless lives, have made a highway, these children of thine have made a home and a school, and are learning the bad lessons of our selfishness and our folly. Save them, and save us, O Lord. Save them from ignorance and brutality, from the shamelessness of lust, the hardness of greed, and the haunting of drink, and save us from the gross guilt of those that offend thy little ones, and from the hypocrisy of those that say they see and see not, whose sin remaineth. Make clear to those of older years the inalienable right of childhood to play, and give to those who govern our cities the will and ability to provide the places for play; make clear to those who minister to the appetite for recreation the guilt of those that lead astray thy children; and make clear to us all that the great school of life is not encompassed by walls and that its teachers are all who influence the younger brethren by companionship and example, whether for good or evil, and that to that school all we are teachers and as we teach are judged. For all false teaching, for all hindering of thy children, pardon us, O Lord, and suffer the little children to come unto thee, for Jesus' sake.

POOR ADVICE

THE people of Colorado Springs who desire the enforcement of the law are advised to "make an investigation of dance halls, pool halls and rooming houses, or such other places wherein they believe the law is being violated." The result of this report is to be communicated to the police. Not unless the police fail to act on the report is it to be permitted to arouse public sentiment.

Interesting advice, but it raises the query, why support a police force, if the people have to do its work?

As a matter of fact, whenever wrong conditions are found, the police should be required to explain why they did not stop them. If the police are even reasonably efficient, rumors of law-breaking inevitably reach their first of all people. And it's their business to investigate such reports, not to wait for private investigating committees.

A policeman who has to be prodded to his duty isn't worth paying, and had better be dropped from the force at once.

KEEP WITHIN 400 WORDS

DURING the past week The Gazette has been compelled to return to the writers fully a dozen communications, intended for the Open Parliament, that transgressed the 400-word limit. Some of the writers have taken umbrage, considering that personal affront was intended. As a matter of fact, it has been found necessary to put a limit to communications. And that limit has to be adhered to in all cases, else there's no use having it.

The Gazette will print any communication that comes within the 400-word limit, provided it is not libelous or does not tend to stir up religious controversies.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

[All letters intended for the Open Parliament must bear the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Controversial letters will not be published without the signature of the writer. Communications for this department should be limited to 400 words and should be free from personalities.]

THE DANCE HALL EVIL

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Will you kindly permit me to express my feeling of deep regret for the sad condition existing in our city in regard to the dance hall nuisance brought before the public lately? It is surprising indeed that in our enlightened time, with so many churches and Bibles all around us, a man should be found to rent, or a woman to run a place for such purpose, for it seems the fear of God, which is the beginning of all true wisdom, should prevent any sober-thinking man or woman from going into partnership with vice in offering so great temptations for the weakness and depravity of human nature.

It is truly said that the moral and industrial condition of home life is the source of the evils emanating from the dance hall; for no Christian father or mother would want to participate in public or private dances, nor would they permit their offspring to visit such moral pestholes. If all men would be total abstainers, as they ought to be, there would be no demerit in the dance hall, and if all families would be truly Christian, public dance halls could not exist.

Nevertheless, it is clear that the authorities of this city are to some extent responsible for this deplorable condition. What is the curfew law for, if minors of 12 to 16 years of age, under the very eyes of the police, are permitted to drink and dance and use foul language and witness indecent acts, too horrible to put in print, until the hour of midnight? And just think, to see a policeman sent from headquarters to regulate affairs and to put a check to all profanity and lawlessness, so degrading himself and his office as to participate in the dances with women whose moral lives stand at 0, and then this very same policeman not even getting a cent for his services, but only a few cents for his trouble, for his conduct from his superiors. There must be something rotten in Denmark.

There is no doubt but that, if the chief of police and the commissioner of public safety were men of a high moral standard—as they ought to be—they would not keep such a man on the police force any longer. But now remember what Schopenhauer says:

"Wer die Wahrheit denkt, der muss schon das Pferd am Zügel haben.
Wer die Wahrheit sieht, der muss schon den Fuchs im Busch haben.
Wer die Wahrheit spricht, der muss schon die Fresse fliegen haben."
J. MAURER.

CLEAN ALL THE WALKS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Is there or not an ordinance compelling the owners of houses to remove or have removed the snow from the sidewalks in front of or around the sides of their houses? In cases where houses are unoccupied, or lots on which there are no houses built, is there any ordinance that would compel these owners to see that the snow is promptly removed from in front of their places?

I live within a half block of a lot that is owned by the Palmer estate and is located at the corner of Nevada and Dale streets. This locality is thickly populated and several hundred people each day use these walks. And though I have resided in this neighborhood for several years past, I do not recall one instance where snow has been removed from in front of the side of these premises, but I do know that bright and early on the first morning after the last snow, a policeman called at the house I live in and gave orders that the snow be removed before sundown. This I do not complain of. To the contrary I approve of it. But why is any discrimination shown, and why did not the alert policeman see that the snow was removed from in front of this lot, as well as several dwellings near by that at this time chance to be vacant?

We may expect from now on to have more or less snow and would it not be a good idea if the city can compel property owners or their tenants to keep the sidewalks free from snow, to put one or more men regularly "on the job" seeing that all sidewalks are cleaned before they become packed and frozen and dangerous under the foot?

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
I notice on reading the concluding sentences of Mr. Overholt's account of last night's brilliant opening of the art exhibition congratulatory letters are offered to the founders and officers of the society, but that some of the names of those most active in this movement are not mentioned. It seems to me that this community should know to whom they are so especially indebted for securing this splendid collection of pictures for exhibition in Colorado Springs.

The Rev. Mr. Taft and Mr. N. van den Arend were amongst the earliest promoters of this enterprise, and indeed it was through their initiative and the public-spirited action of Mrs. Dodge that this exhibition is now open to the public. Many others, too numerous to mention, have given the foundation of a hope for the art society a most loyal support, but to those three the chief credit is due and should be given.

May I add that the exhibition is well, remarkably well, worth seeing, and all who possibly can should go to see the work of these distinguished American artists.

Complexions

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Swash"

Complexions are worn by everybody but are most highly prized by women who wouldn't be able to keep house without one at any rate for a husband.

A complexion consists of the hide with which the face is upholstered. It varies in color from purple to alabaster, but the most valuable complexion is a shell-like white with pink trimmings. With a complexion of this sort, assisted by a few deft pinches and no brains whatever to back it up from behind, a woman can often go forth and accumulate $11,000,000 worth of husband.

That is about all complexions are good for outside of theaters—acquiring husbands. A fine, delicate complexion is more soothing to look at

"About all a man's complexion ever does is lose him a job now and then."

than a $50,000 painting or a Swiss sundress, and after a man has gotten enthusiastic over it he simply has to have it around the house.

Men do not get married on their complexions. About all a man's complexion ever does for him is to lose a job now and then, when it becomes too virulent around the nose. Complexions are of two sorts—permanent and detachable. After a natural complexion has acquired season-cracks, and the pink has faded out of it, something generally has to be done in the interests of art and the detachable complexion is used. This comes in boxes and can be put on with brushes. At night it can be removed with a damp rag. The detachable complexion is immensely popular because it requires no care and can be removed in a few minutes, whereas the complexion that comes with the face is harder to keep in order than a six-cylinder, racing car.

A good complexion is a great boon to the landscape, but unless it is in good repair and kept in good repair by nature, it is pretty hard on the intellect. When a woman has to spend a couple of hours a day putting on her complexion, readjusting it whenever she can find a mirror and keeping it from being blown off by the wind or blown off by her children, she hasn't much time left to devote to the innumerable questions of the day. And when a woman has to take care of a complexion and a dog both, posterity seldom needs to pass a vote of thanks in her behalf.

MODERNIZING JERUSALEM

From the American Hebrew.
The latest indication of the progress going on in Jerusalem was the arrival a short time ago of a massive American motor road roller, and the decision to equip the city with an efficient tramway system. The walls inclose 200 acres, of which 35 acres are occupied by the temple inclosure. But owing to the impossibility of housing the thousands of Jewish immigrants who yearly continue to arrive, building has been proceeding outside the walls to a very considerable extent.

The consequence of the presence of this extramural population is that first one and then another of the gates was left open by night, until today they are all perpetually open. Indeed, two of the gateways have no gates at all. Meanwhile the Mohammedan population is not by any means keeping pace with the Jewish, and the Holy city seems to be a fair way to becoming once more in fact as well as in name the capital city of the Hebrew race.

Jerusalem is soon to have its own tramway service, as a concession for the purpose has already been granted to a French company, which will start laying the tram lines in the course of the summer. An English company has applied for a concession to illuminate the city with water by the construction of large reservoirs near wells situated at a distance of about 16 miles from Jerusalem. The municipality is also considering proposals for paving the streets and constructing sewage works. A modern fire extinguishing apparatus and a telephone installation are also to be provided. The project of constructing a harbor in Jaffa, which has been discussed for the last 20 years, is likely to be realized at last. A French-Belgian company, with the cooperation of the Jaffa-Jerusalem Railway company, is said to have applied for a concession to carry out the project, for which it has raised a capital of nearly 1,000,000 pounds sterling. The government is reported to have come to an agreement with the company about the conditions of the concession, and only the consent of parliament is now necessary.

BERNHARDT TOMB ON AN ISLAND

PARIS.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has been assured that her tomb, which has been prepared for her on a rock in the Atlantic ocean, will not be taken from her by the French government.

The tomb is to be on a rocky peninsula which touches Belle Isle, the island off the Brittany coast where Mme. Bernhardt spends her holidays. At low tide the rock which contains the tomb joins the island while at high tide it becomes an island itself. After the actress had prepared her tomb doubt was expressed regarding her title to the rock, and a lawyer informed her some months ago that it did not belong to her. Mme. Bernhardt has now received a definite assurance through Mme. Delescluse, wife of the minister of marine, that her title will not be challenged.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA
VI.—A TANGLED CURRENCY

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Whoever coined the phrase: "A Chinese puzzle," must have had the Chinese currency system in mind. It is the most complicated and unsatisfactory money system in the world today. China will never take its rightful place among the leading commercial nations of the world until its currency is put on a sound basis and standardized. This problem touches every man, woman and child in China and is of greater personal concern than even the form of government by which they are to be ruled. Of all China's difficulties this one of currency reform should be among the first to be tackled. Indications are that for reasons both peculiar and selfish it will be one of the last.

Foreigners have been urging currency reform, and Chinese officials have been promising currency reform, for generations. Edicts have been issued with ponderous aplomb, elaborate plans have been solemnly tendered by foreign monetary experts and as solemnly accepted by celestial officials. But the good old way is so deep rooted that it prevails in these days of democracy just as it did when despotism flourished. When the republic does get around to the money question it will face a staggering proposition.

Valuations Fluctuate.

To begin with, there are copper coins of various denominations. Then there are silver dollars of diverse mint, the Mexican dollar, the Chinese dollar, and the Mexican dollar, which value which fluctuates between 80 and 90 cents. American money, the silver shao or sycee of different sizes and values adds its seed to this monetary apple of discord. A motley collection of paper currency fills in the chinks, big and coarse like small paper bags, oftentimes twice as big as an American bill, and bearing the name of a dozen foreign banking houses or provincial banks. Top all this off with the stream of gold and silver coins which pour in daily for exchange from every country on the face of the globe and you have a nice mess of porridge. Add to this the more or less legal issues of "leavesy" province, whether the provincial treasury has the actual cash or credit to back it up or not, and the genuine counterfeit for every "supposedly genuine" coin or bill in the market, and diluted with hastily issued "leavesy" eggs on the side is place fruit in comparison.

The tourist who bucks the money market of China gets a liberal education. He soon agrees with Lord Hare that "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinese is peculiar." As a matter of fact, however, the foreigners themselves are not without their share of blame for this chaotic condition. Foreign banks and individual Europeans and Americans have made, and are still making, and will continue to make, fortunes out of the daily fluctuation of the money market. For instance, the daily rate of exchange is not fixed in Peking, or Shanghai, or Hongkong, but in London. Money changing made two knights of the British realm and one great university in Hongkong within the past decade.

Money Changing Pastime.

As baseball is the national pastime to Americans, so money changing is to the Chinese. Even the lowest coolie who toils 16 hours a day to earn the equivalent of 10 cents American money will go to the street money changer for an additional hour or two of "leavesy" which cannot possibly net him a gain of more than a cent. When he goes to his humble home he may spend another precious hour on frenzied financial deduction, only to learn that he was skinned out of half a cent. Then he goes philosophically to bed to wait for the chance the morrow will bring him to get even.

Pity then the guileless foreign tourist, for the native money changer, like the pot, is always with him every day of his headlong sleight-of-hand rush through China. The only difference is that at the end of the tour he is poor but the money changer isn't. At the outset the deft coin juggler has the experience and the tripper has the money. When it is all over the stranger in a stance (and acknowledges the experience and the lure of the money changer's money. The money shop with its enticing black and gold sign in Chinese and alleged English is of necessity the first place to which the tourist goes. Here the revised, annotated and copyright edition of Jule of shylcock takes his perfectly good gold and bills of unimpeachable integrity and gives in return a formidable pile of silver and bills which is sure to be less than the rate of exchange for that day calls for.

Shake Down Gold Dust.

To add insult to injury, our crafty friend will tempt all the gold coins in a sack and hire a man to shake it up and down violently for several hours. This rubs the gold dust off the coins and at the end of a day's "sweating," as the process is called, a dollar or more of gold dust is at the bottom of the sack.

The tourist's initiation is usually in the British city of Hongkong. The next step 80 miles up Pearl river is Canton, where the shops will take the Hongkong money but the chair bearers and other coolies may not. This necessitates a change, as a loss of course to Canton money. Before proceeding north to Shanghai all this Hongkong and Canton currency must be changed to Shanghai values. Perhaps silver has depreciated somewhat in the interim, and the exchange slips again. If the traveler is so careless as to wait to turn over his cash in Shanghai the change will cost considerable, perhaps as high as 10 per cent sometimes. Before going up to North China with money one has left is turned, to the usual loss. Into Tientsin money. Fortunately, this last generally passes current in Peking, 85 miles above Tientsin, although the capital district has some silver coins distinctly its own. On the return trip south the game works on the back track.

It is easy to see why there will be no serious monetary reform and standardizing of currency in China so long as it can be staved off by foreign banks and their Chinese associates, and the demands of Chinese money changers to be found in every nook and cranny of the country who make their living by the traffic.

Primitive Currency System.

Primitive Chinese currency, dating back to prehistoric times, consisted of axes, spades, knives, and other tools, cowrie shells, rings and silk rolls. As far forward as A. D. 1329 the imperial treasury received 1,132,119 strings of cowries. Silver was used to a certain extent about the same time, perhaps a century or two before. Gold passed as currency from the beginning of the eleventh century B. C. In modern times pure Chinese gold has been hoarded by the wealthy in vaults or pawnshops in the shape of ingots, bars and coins. The Han dynasty, B. C. 206, in the Tenth century iron was common, everyday money in that part of China which is now known as Szechuen province. As late as A. D. 1861 iron was used for money in some remote provinces when copper was not forthcoming. Of course, was big and heavy and below its face value.

All these were eccentric forms of currency, and China's real money has been copper, paper and silver. Copper (or bronze) is the basis of the land's currency. Coinage legislation began in B. C. 1032, when the emperor decreed that the metal pieces should be exchangeable according to weight. Inscribed coins soon followed, but for 300 years the inscriptions did not stipulate weight or value. The custom of issuing coins in regular shapes and sizes, and of constant weight, began early in the Seventh century B. C. China has had a copper coinage for 25 centuries, and a coinage of the shape used to this day, round coins with square holes, for 21 centuries without a break. In other words, the Chinese were using currency when only the Druids peopled the British Isles, when the wild Germanic tribes groped in the Black Forest before the roving Norwegians discovered America and founded the colony of Vinland.

"Flying Money."

The first paper money was issued in A. D. 806 by the Emperor Hien-tsung in order to meet a money stringency. This paper was called "flying money." The government issued it and received gold money in return, having off its obligations in this artificial manner. The Mongols, when in control of North

Live Dope From Ball Camps in Big Leagues

DETROIT, Jan. 21.—The rumormongers of the Tigers are still at work. The hold-out plan, Messers. Cobb, Crawford, Dubeck, Stange and Dave Jones, got a thumb-wrenching twist today, being set for Messrs. Naylor and Jennings. But the rumor has been cleared up by the club's manager.

Jones has been sold to the White Sox for $25,000, but his departure is not going to cause any great deal of weeping among the fans. Davey has been sold to the White Sox, and he is following in the footsteps of Matty McIntyre, who left here for the White Sox, from which club he was released last season to the Pacific coast.

The real trouble, however, is with the Tigers. The club is to satisfy the big hold-out plan, Cobb has not said a word to Naylor, who is intended to do and Crawford is most defiant. Big Sam threatens to quit unless his demands for more money are satisfied, and Dubeck has been handed this defiance. The Tiger boss, Stange is keeping his fingers crossed to see how his other three partners in crime are going to succeed, for if they do not have such a sparkling season as summer time could permit, the team will lose more money than it drew down.

It looks like a plot on the part of the men to get Jennings. Davey Jones, Walter Hughes, and hold-out Dubeck, Jennings, and Davey Jones, who have completely demoralized the Tiger machine. Davey and two other sneakers of this town have picked the Tigers to finish out the season in the coming battle for the American flag.

There is considerable excitement going on among the fans over the stand taken by Cobb, Crawford and Dubeck. These stars really quit, as they threaten to the mess. Davey, who was a Tiger when they take the field next spring. Naylor has positively stated that he does not intend to be held up and the players must accept the contracts he sends them or else stay idle during the summer.

Possibly it will require the club's best tact to smooth over the matter, the same way he did in the previous strike.

"I'll go to Hot Springs about the first of February, probably a week ahead of the team, so I can get the jump on them."

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA VI-A TANGLED CURRENCY BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

China, issued only paper money for the reason that all the copper, silver and other minerals known at that time were in South China. All Europe was astounded at Marco Polo's description of this paper money in A. D. 1290. In the museum of St. John college in Shanghai is a paper bill worth one thousand cash, the equivalent of 50 cents American money, which was issued by the first Ming emperor (Hong-wu A. D. 1368-1398). It is nearly two feet long and one foot wide. The conglomerate paper issues of today are not a startling improvement over that veteran greenback, which, as a matter of fact, was printed on mulberry bark paper and is a dark slate color. It was unearthed in the Summer palace by European soldiers during the looting which followed the smashing of the Boxer movement and the relief of the foreign legations in Peking in 1900. Major Louis Livingston Seaman, member of the United States army, took possession of it and later presented it to St. Johns. The wronging value, date, dynasty, etc., and warns "To counterfeit is death. The informant will receive 250 dollars of silver in addition to the entire property of the criminal."

As to the prospects for currency reform in China, the bare facts are that an imperial decree, of May 24, 1912, called for a standard currency, the national unit to be the yuan or dollar, and the standard silver. It prescribed the weight of the dollar and defined the subsidiary coins. It ordered that all the old coins should be called in, and that after one year payment of taxes and all other governmental charges should be in the new coinage. In order to bring about this reform an American loan of $10,000,000 gold was negotiated in the fall of 1910. The decree has never been put into effect. Now, however, the republic is pledged to bring about the desired reform and may be able to do so in due time. It is understood that the position of financial expert for the new government has been offered to Prof. Jeremiah Jenks, the American financial expert.

TOMORROW: THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA.

COLIMA VOLCANO IN MEXICO IS AGAIN IN VIOLENT ERUPTION

GUADALAJARA, Mex., Jan. 21.—The volcano of Colima is again in violent eruption. Thousands of people are fleeing from the villages and ranches in the vicinity. It is believed that there has been heavy loss of life in the remote settlements.

Hundreds of refugees arrived in this city today on a train composed of six cars which had been picked up on a siding at a nearby village. The fleeing people had found it necessary to shove away a quantity of volcanic sand before they were able to move the cars and for many miles along the way the train had to be stopped frequently to clear the track of debris.

Very little lava was ejected from the crater which, however, emitted vast quantities of smoke and sand, while suffocating gases formed an unusual feature of the eruption. A gale was blowing from the northwest and this probably saved many of the inhabitants of the surrounding districts, as it caused the flying sand and deadly gases to pass over their heads.

The activity of the volcano decreased during the night, but volcanic dust is now settling on the house roofs and the streets of the city.

The railroad station agent at Zapotitlan abandoned his post during the night and reports that volcanic sand covered the tracks in places to a depth of several feet.

The last violent eruption of Colima occurred in 1903.

A new crater has formed on Colima, which continues violent eruptions at intervals. Forest fires have occurred from the flow of the lava and crops over a wide area have been damaged seriously.

PERSONS INTRODUCES BILL TO EXTEND JURISDICTION OF RAILWAY COMMISSION

DENVER, Jan. 21.—Among the bills introduced in the senate today was one by Tobin amending the law creating the state dental board so as to give the governor a voice in its selection. A bill by Morris provides for surgical operations in certain cases of mental defective and criminals. A bill by Stephan regulates heavy wagon traffic on certain roads with a view to preserving these highways in good condition for automobile traffic. A bill by Helen R. Robinson provides a minimum wage schedule for women. A juvenile court bill by Tierney prohibits publicity in cases involving children. Bills by Tierney define the powers of the state engineer and regulate the distribution of water in streams.

In the house a bill by Representative Persons would extend the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission to all public utilities.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Raffello Pasquini, who the police assert is a member of a "black hand gang" which has been operating in large cities, is in jail here, awaiting the filing of a warrant charging him with grand larceny in San Francisco.

He is believed to be one of two men who robbed John and Julia Collins, Swiss dairyman of $18,000 here last June.
